

A SINGLE DAY MASSIVE PLANTATION DRIVE

Organised by NSS wing
Sarbati Devi Women's College, Rajgangpur

A massive plantation drive was organised on 17.09.2025 by the NSS wing of Sarbati Devi Women's College, Rajgangpur. The program was started with the enthusiasm on the college campus and adopted village to spread awareness on importance of trees in the environment. The event was inaugurated by our Principal Dr. Ashok Kumar Beura, who addressed the gathering with ecological importance and about the theme "Ek Ped Maa Ke Naam" and planted the first plant in the college campus. Dr. (Mrs.) Sasmita Lenka, L/H.Sc. addressed the gathering about the significance of plants and planted one sapling.

A total number of 250 saplings were planted by the NSS wings among them 120 saplings were planted in the college campus and 150 saplings on the adopted village Banthupada. 30 number of saplings were distributed to the staff members to plant in their own premises.

NSS volunteers played the commendable role to take care of the plants and nourishment of the saplings.

